

Selkirk Hits Homer In Third Inning to Give Yankees 1-0 Lead

45,000 Fans Gather For Opening of All-New York World Series; Chilly Weather Greeted Jubilant Throng.

6,000 SHORT

McCarthy of Yankees Decides on An Eleventh Hour Shift of His Lineup.

Polo Grounds, New York, Sept. 30 (P).—Despite overcast skies and chilly atmosphere, close to 45,000 fans gathered today for the opening game of New York's baseball civil war, between the Yankees and Giants.

This was at least 6,000 short of the Polo Grounds capacity but the weather failed to put a damper on enthusiasm over the first all-New York series since 1923.

The Giants, underdogs in the series betting, were favorites today with their great southpaw, Carl Hubbell, drawn against Charley (Red) Ruffing, burly right-hander of the Yankees, in the first pitching duel of the championship scuffle.

To meet Hubbell's screwball menace, Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees decided on an eleventh hour shift in his batting order. He dropped George Selkirk, a left-handed batsman, from sixth to eighth, moving Jake Powell to sixth and Tony Lazzeri to seventh position. Powell and Lazzeri both are right-handed hitters.

Otherwise there was no alteration in pre-game plans.

The lineup: Yankees—Crossett, ss; Rolfe, 3b; DiMaggio, cf; Gehrig, 1b; Dickey, c; Powell, lf; Lazzeri, 2b; Selkirk, rf; Ruffing, p.

Giants—Moore, lf; Bartell, ss; Terry, 1b; Ott, rf; Rippe, cf; Mancuso, c; Whitehead, 2b; Jackson, 3b; Hubbell, p.

Most of the pre-game attention was focused upon Governor Lehman. The state's chief executive practiced throwing out the first ball for the benefit of the cameras. Mayor La Guardia also was among the notables seated in the boxes.

It was a big pool of water in the left field bull pen. This, among other things, caused some discussion between the umpires and captains of the opposing teams.

The crowd left off a big cheer as the Giants dashed out on the field.

First Inning

The crowd stood while the band played the Star Spangled Banner. There was a slight delay while workmen left the field after attempts to mop up the soft spots in the visiting bull pen. The Yankee relief corps shifted over to the right field bull pen, joining the Giants.

Crossett was the first Yankee at bat. With the count two strikes and three balls, Crossett grounded out, Jackson to Terry.

Rolfe, next up, grounded out, to Terry, unassisted.

DiMaggio was the third victim. He grounded out on the first pitch, Bartell to Terry, the Giant manager made a backhand catch of the shortstop's wide throw.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Moore led off for the Giants. With one ball and two strikes Moore lifted a high fly to Powell.

Bartell took a strike one, swinging hard at a fast ball. A ball followed and Bartell then lined to Powell in deep left center.

Terry, with the count one ball and two strikes, singled sharply past Crossett.

Ott, after taking two strikes, three balls, and hitting four fouls, walked.

Rippe ended the inning with a high one that Crossett took back of third after the count reached three and two.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Second Inning

With the count two strikes, one ball, Gehrig grounded to Terry and was tossed out as Hubbell came over to take the throw for the putout.

Dickey grounded out on the first pitch, Whitehead to Terry.

With the count three and two, Powell smashed a line single to center.

Lazzeri fanned on a called third strike with the count three and two. Hubbell was getting a sharp break on his screw ball. Only one of the first seven batters to face him got the ball out of the infield.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

It started to sprinkle as Mancuso stepped to the plate. Mancuso fanned on a called third strike.

Whitehead had the count one ball, two strikes, when Lazzeri came in to the box for a word with Ruffing. The pitcher then stroked to the plate for a conference with Dickey while the fans called for action. On the next pitch Whitehead grounded out, Crossett to Gehrig.

The first pitch to Jackson was a wild strike, the next one a ball. Jackson swung and missed the third delivery, and then fanned on a called third strike.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Third Inning Yankees

With one strike called on him, Selkirk smashed a home run into the upper right field stands.

The crowd roared as the Yankees

Berlin, Sept. 30 (P).—Germany will stand pat on her present currency policy, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Reichminister of economics and head of the Reichsbank, told the bank's board of directors today.

Miss Helene Mae to Sing at Benedictine Graduation Tonight

Tonight's program at the graduation of the class of nurses from the Training School for Nurses of the Benedictine Hospital will mark the second time that Miss Helene Mae, National Broadcasting Company soprano, has sung for the hospital, she having appeared at the Easter Monday Ball in March, 1934.

Miss Mae was a favorite then when she rendered "Il Bacio," "Orchids in the Moonlight" and "A Little Bit of Heaven," appearing at the Municipal Auditorium after her regular weekly broadcast at WGY. She made a special hurried trip from Schenectady to Kingston for the cause of the hospital, deeming it a most worthy one.

Tonight the popular star of "Wings of Song" and other NBC programs will sing "The Whistler and His Dog," "Caro Nome," aria from "Rigoletto" and "Voi De Primavera" by Strauss. Her accompanist will be Harry Malsenhelder, local pianist.

Besides Miss Mae, the Riccoboni String Trio will be on the program of entertainment playing the "March of the Musketeers" by Friml.

As announced in The Freeman Tuesday, the guest speaker will be the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Joseph H. McMahon, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, New York city. The Very Rev. John J. Stanley, pastor of St. Mary's Church, will give out the diplomas, and Dr. Edward F. Shea of Stone Ridge will present the graduating class. Miss Othella F. O'Bryan will deliver the valedictory. The program will start at 8:30 o'clock.

QUERIES ON INCOME

PARRIED BY DIVINE

For two and one-half hours yesterday Father Divine, negro cult leader of Harlem, blandly parried questions put to him at a hearing in County Court by William W. Lessebaum, an attorney who is trying to collect $7,245 in judgments from him, says the New York Times.

Mr. Lessebaum, representing Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Bayless of Baltimore, who were injured in an automobile accident involving Father Divine Peace Mission buses, tried in vain to get the cult leader to admit he had money.

"I do not recall," "Not that I know of," "I don't know," were the chief answers given by the man who is God to some 3,000 or more followers in Harlem.

The hearing is to be resumed October 20.

POUGHKEEPSIE MAN PAYS FINE AND IS RELEASED

William Strever, 46, of 32 Catherine street, Poughkeepsie, who was committed to the county jail for 50 days in default of a fine of $50, imposed by Justice William B. Carr of Clintonville, paid his fine Tuesday evening and was released.

Strever was arrested Sunday by Corporal Baker and Trooper Klein on a charge of driving while intoxicated, on the New Paltz-Modena road.

Death Trap Accused

Havana, Sept. 30 (P).—An explosion intended as a death trap for police and army intelligence agents was averted today with the discovery of 20 sticks of dynamite wired to a telephone in a vacant apartment. The officers, investigating the September 20 bombing of the newspaper El Pais were lured yesterday to the apartment near the center of Havana by an anonymous tip. It was the hideout of radicals.

McKee Held for Grand Jury

Thomas McKee of Randall Manor, S. I., who was brought to the county jail Saturday following his arrest by city officers on a charge of abduction, was arraigned before Justice Lester S. Davis of West Shokan, who held him in $500 bail for appearance before the grand jury.

Rebels Strangle Madrid And Will Attack at Once, Franco Heads the Army

Imminent Fall of Capital is Predicted; Fascists Expect Rightist Uprising to Aid Cause; Wild Confusion Reported.

INSPECTS ALCAZAR

General Franco Looks Over Alcazar Ruins; Loyalists Mobilize Conscripts.

(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press) Burgos, Spain, Sept. 30.—The insurgent high command announced today their Fascist armies had a stranglehold on Madrid, ringing the government capital with a virtually completed band of steel.

With the encircling movement, basic feature of the Fascist tactics, drawing to its pincer-like close, the insurgent junta declared the direct attack on Madrid would begin immediately.

They predicted imminent fall of the capital and said a planned uprising of the Rightist elements of the population of Madrid in the final hours of the drive would climax its capitulation.

Madrid was pictured in wild confusion in announcements from Fascist general headquarters. Women and children were reported being mobilized for a last desperate defense. Anarchists, the reports asserted, were getting the upper hand of the people's front Socialist government.

(Still reported held by government forces and open to the Socialist territory on the Mediterranean was the 40 mile sector from Guadalajara, slightly northeast of Madrid, to Aranjuez, important communication center to the south.)

Commander-in-Chief

The Junta named Gen. Francisco Franco commander-in-chief, with the title "chief of the Spanish army," and notified foreign governments of his appointment as chief of all operations for the final push.

General Franco, in personal command on the southern front, with headquarters in fallen Toledo, started two columns toward Madrid. One drove on Illescas, mid-point of the Madrid-Toledo highway with the double objective of starting the attack on the gates of the capital and cutting off the large Socialist army retreating slowly northward from Toledo.

The other column was advancing from Toledo northeast to Aranjuez. Fall of that important highway and railroad center, it was believed, would cut Madrid off completely from communication with the rest of Spain.

(Reports from all battle sectors on the Madrid front indicated that a general insurgent push was underway.)

Visits Alcazar

By ELMER W. PETERSON

(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press) Toledo, Spain, Sept. 30.—Insurgent soldiers, "mopping up" in Toledo, completed occupation of the provincial capital today as Gen. Francisco Franco and I clambered over debris in the ruined Alcazar.

The last vestige of Socialist strength was smashed when the Fascists killed or captured 74 government militiamen holding out in the San Juan Hospital across the Tago river southwest of the city.

General Franco, newly-appointed Fascist chief of operations, hastened to the Alcazar where we threaded our way over huge piles of fallen masonry and between tottering wall segments.

The general was greeted by eight cadets who were among the survivors of weeks of shelling and bombardment of the old military training school. He embraced them.

The first general impression we got on our tour of the fortress was one of utter ruin. The ancient fortified palace looked as if it had been struck by a dozen cyclones.

The bodies of horses and donkeys blocked the dimly lit subterranean passages. Roofs sagged. We saw at a glance that only the Alcazar's solid rock foundations with their labyrinth of subterranean passages remained.

100 Per Cent Cooperation Is Promised Legislature by Bleakley if Elected

G. O. P. NOMINEE

Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley, of Yonkers, received friends and well-wishers immediately after his nomination as the Republican candidate for Governor. Col. Robertson Well Known in State Circles

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 30 (P).—Col. Ralph K. Robertson, nominated yesterday for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket, is a widely known Buffalo lawyer and colonel of the 174th Infantry, National Guard.

Born in Buffalo, he was deputy corporation counsel for the city for more than 10 years. Service in the Mexican and World Wars earned him the rank of colonel and since the war he has been active in the American Legion and the New York National Guard.

A former president of the Erie County Bar Association, Colonel Robertson has long been active in Buffalo civic affairs. He also served on the national executive committee of the American Legion.

Lehman to Tour State Following Acceptance Speech

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 30. (P).—Hailing President Roosevelt's opening campaign speech here last night as a great success, delegates to the Democratic state convention returned home today to step up their campaign to carry the state for him and re-elect the state ticket which was nominated yesterday.

Governor Herbert H. Lehman, who spoke confidently on his reelection after he had been nominated by acclamation for a third term, will launch his campaign with his acceptance speech in New York October 6.

He will begin an extensive tour of the state, patterned after his 1931 tour which resulted in an overwhelming victory, about the middle of the month. His plans call for a week's trip through upstate New York with speeches in all the major cities and a week in the metropolitan area ending in a mammoth rally at Madison Square Garden October 21.

Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., who received more applause at the convention than any other candidate except the governor, announced today he would start a trip through the state immediately.

Other candidates nominated by the convention were Lieutenant Governor M. William Bray, comptroller Morris S. Tremaine, Federal Judge Harlan W. Rippey of Rochester for associate judge of the Court of Appeals, and Mrs. Caroline O'Leary and Matthew J. Merritt for representatives-at-large.

They will all begin their campaigns within the next week.

Democratic leaders expressed pleasure over the smoothness and harmony with which the business of the convention was handled. There was no evidence of discord or dissension at any time during the two-day meeting.

The hotel holdover appeared almost deserted today in comparison with the crowds which have swarmed about them since Sunday night. Many of the delegates and visitors showed out last night immediately after the convention adjourned. Those who stayed over took early trains this morning.

Text of State Platform Adopted By the Republicans

(By The Associated Press)

Albany, Sept. 29.—The text of the platform adopted today by the Republican State Convention follows:

National Issues

In the present campaign the American people are called on to pass upon questions of vital importance. The supporters of the New Deal who, under the leadership of the President, have seized the title and the machinery of the old Democratic party, propose a complete change in our form of government. Ignoring the lessons of the past and the Constitution of the United States, they seek to center government at Washington; to erect and maintain there a huge bureaucracy which, with its tentacles reaching into every farm, every workshop, every office and finally every home, shall control intimately the individual as he strives to earn his living. They would undermine and destroy the Federal union of states and substitute therefor a dictatorial government.

In the name of liberty, guaranteed to each citizen in the Constitution, we protest against the whole scheme of the New Deal party. We invite patriotic men and women regardless of their political affiliations, to join us in the struggle to save American institutions.

In the name of our children and our children's children we protest against a continuation of the orgy of wasteful spending which has already thrown a grievous burden upon them and which, if permitted to increase, will make life unbearable for them.

We rejoice at the outcome of the Republican National Convention. In adopting a declaration of principles by a unanimous vote of the delegates it demonstrated the solidarity of the Republican party in nominating Governor Landon its candidate to vote for a man of character, high achievement, clear vision, simple common sense and plain words. And the greatest of these is character. In nominating Colonel K. H. Robertson as his running mate we have assured the country that with the election of these two men it will have in the Vice-Presidential man who, in case of need, is fit to be President.

State Issues

The government of the state should be administered primarily in the interest of the people of the state. It should cooperate with, not be dominated by, the federal government. We condemn the Lehman administration for attempting to make our state government a mere agency of the federal administration.

Cost of Government. Washington is not the only place where reckless spending threatens the public welfare. It is high time that Albany gave some thought to the taxpayers.

During the Lehman administration the taxpayers have paid not less than $229,000,000 in added taxes. Yet the state is still in the red, $150,000,000 has been added to the state bonded debt.

We promise—

1. To practice economy without impairing essential services.

2. To rebalance and equalize our

Bleakley Tells How To Pronounce His Name

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30 (P).—

Friends who pronounce the Republican gubernatorial candidate's name correctly, say "Bleakley" and not "Bleckley."

Authority for the pronunciation is the candidate himself, Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley, of Westchester county.

Justice Bleakley at a press conference cleared up the matter of pronunciation.

"Our family," he said, "originally came from Scotland, where the name was pronounced 'Bleckley,' as the Scotch would say it. Then they moved to Belfast, Ireland, where the Celtic influence changed the pronunciation to 'Bleakley.'"

Chosen as the party's candidate for governor at the two-day state convention which ended last night, the Yonkers jurist prepared to resign from the bench effective tomorrow and take personal command "immediately and forthwith" of an intensive drive to wrest control of the state from the Democrats.

He avowed in an acceptance speech his purpose of "solidifying our party so that it may be restored to the standing and the prestige enjoyed by it for many years," and made this statement reading his opponent, Governor Lehman:

"I am satisfied that the people of the state of New York do not desire to continue in office a governor who is in absolute accord not only with the policies of the New Deal but also with subversive methods through which they are being applied."

G. O. P. Ticket

In nominating the jurist of 19 years' service, the new element of the party rejected a figure long in party affairs, upstate Senator George R. Fearon, and chose this ticket in a closing burst of harmony:

Governor—Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley, 52, of Yonkers, married, father of two sons and a daughter.

Lieutenant-governor—Col. Ralph K. Robertson, 53, of Buffalo, lawyer, commander of the 174th Infantry, National Guard; prominent Legionnaire who saw service overseas.

Attorney general—Nathan D. Perlman, 49, New York city judge of special sessions; former representative, assemblyman and deputy attorney general.

Comptroller—John A. May, 50, Gloversville, controller of Schenck theatrical enterprises; native of Watertown, formerly with Fulton County National Bank and Trust Company, Gloversville. Married and the father of two daughters.

Representative at large (2)—Miss Natalie Couch, Nyack lawyer; worked way through Fordham Law School; eastern manager of the women's division of the Republican national committee.

Associate judge, court of appeals—James P. Hill, 57, of Norwich; presiding justice of the third department, appellate division, and for 15 years justice of supreme court in Chemung county.

First evidence of victory for the Bleakley forces came with the surprising defeat of the veteran congressman, James W. Wadsworth, for the chairmanship of the central committee which drafted a platform

Will Support All Helpful Measures Says Republican Candidate, Says He Expects Cooperation in Return.

CAMPAIGN PLANS

Judge Bleakley Will Make First Campaign Speech Tomorrow Evening.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30 (P).—Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, said today he probably would make his first campaign speech tomorrow night at Port Chester.

Meanwhile, he laid before Republican legislators a request for "100 per cent cooperation" if he is elected.

The Westchester jurist, who was nominated on the first ballot at the Republican State Convention yesterday, revealed his tentative plans after he had addressed the legislators at a morning meeting with them in the State Capitol.

He said his first speech probably would be made at a reception given him by Port Chester Republican leaders.

About 50 legislators and legislative candidates assembled in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee's office to greet the party's candidate.

If he wins the election, Justice Bleakley told them, he will "cooperate with the senate and assembly in the production of helpful measures 100 per cent."

"I expect from them 100 per cent cooperation in return," he added.

The Republican candidate said he "did not intend to go to the people over the air in an endeavor to force you to do what I may think is your duty when you in conscience believe it to be your duty to do otherwise."

He did not mention his Democratic opponent, Governor Herbert H. Lehman. During his efforts to get the legislature to pass certain bills in his legislative program last winter, Governor Lehman appealed to the public in radio speeches.

"I find no place in the law where the power is granted to the governor of the state to dictate the passage of any bill," Justice Bleakley said.

Bleakley is leader

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30 (P).—New York Republicans launched their 1936 offensive in President Roosevelt's home state today behind a new leader, Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley, 52-year old rugged downstate.

Chosen as the party's candidate for governor at the two-day state convention which ended last night, the Yonkers jurist prepared to resign from the bench effective tomorrow and take personal command "immediately and forthwith" of an intensive drive to wrest control of the state from the Democrats.

SHOWMAN

Shokan, Sept. 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Leo McCune of Brooklyn motored here and spent Sunday at the Albert Wallerstein country place in the village center. Mrs. McCune and Mrs. Wallerstein are sisters of Mrs. Raymond Osterhout of Brown's.

Donald Lynch has returned to New York after a sojourn of several months at the Denis T. Lynch home-stead.

Threatening weather Sunday forenoon doubtless accounted for a slowing up of week-end travel on the reservoir boulevards and Route 28.

Every one confidently expected a rainy day, and there was even a "cap" on High Point in support of the prediction, but late afternoon brought clearing skies without a drop of rain having fallen during the day.

Kenneth Glass, driver of one of the F. B. Matthews trucks through this section, spent Sunday in the lower village.

Members of the younger summer resident set, who will remain here through October, include Edgar Reeve of the Chase bungalow colony and Herman Wendt, Jr., who will stay on the Wendt state road place for the deer hunting season.

Mr. and Mrs. Beverly of Brooklyn have rented the recently remodeled Winchell bungalow near the corner for a year. Paul James and Earl North are building a chimney and making other improvements to the building which was occupied during the summer by Lawrence Marmion and family of New York.

Albert Rose has invested in a Chevrolet coach, purchased of Chester Lyons, Ashokan automobile dealer.

Recent caller here included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson of the South Olive section. Mr. Wilson, who has been spending a vacation of several weeks on the Samsonville road, is engaged in the selling of machinery in downtown St. Louis.

Deputy Postmaster Elwyn Winchell expects to attend the fair at Grahamsville Wednesday. This so-called "Little World's Fair" is well worth taking in according to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brundage, who are accustomed to visit the attraction each year.

Elmer Bedell has been hauling materials for a new front walk which Mrs. Auer Longyear proposes to have constructed at her attractive boarding house property on the old state road.

Edward Herschenroeder of New York spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herschenroeder, of the mountain road.

September 29, 1936, a baptism ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Thomas S. Bond at the home of John H. and Ann Gordon, residents of Brown's Station, which was then known as Brooks' Crossing. The children baptized were Mathilda, Susan, Estella and William Henry.

The slide is the first recreational facility of its kind to be enjoyed by local school children. Earlier generations slid on the ice of the frozen Butternutkill or took imaginary rides along the wooden slides of the schoolhouse bridge spanning this stream. These bridge guards, incidentally, were capped with a tin roof and one of the major sports of the boys at recess time was to straddle the peak and whack the tin with stout sticks by way of making the walk-in rink—and the teacher "fittery". Those good old days!

Fred Gulanek, well known Ashokan farmer and reservoir employee, has equipped himself with the tools necessary for dehorning cattle. Our farmers heretofore have been dependent upon experts from a distance to perform this phase of bovine surgery.

Thomas Carpenter returned to New York Sunday after spending a few days at the James Carpenter camp, "Tom" during his stay here enjoyed many walks in the woods back of Shokan and went back to his city duties greatly refreshed. He brought along a friend, Mr. Smith, but the latter after one night at the rather isolated camp, decided his surroundings were "too wild" and promptly sought out a less secluded stopping place along the state road. Mr. Carpenter, on his part, found the solitude greatly to his liking, and upon returning home professed a desire to tarry longer in our salubrious clime.

Fred Weldner, Olive trout officer, visited the Shokan school Monday.

Harrison Gridley, principal of the Ashokan school, is one of the new proprietors of the Catskill Mountain Star.

Mrs. Lulu M. Chase left her summer home on the mountain Sunday for Poughkeepsie where she resides with her son, Clement Chase, and family. Mrs. Chase spends a part of her winters in California.

Garden Band Here For V. F. W. Circus

Joe Basile, band leader of the Madison Square Garden Band, will furnish the music at the Municipal Auditorium for the V. F. W. Circus October 5 to 10. Basile's Band is one of the best known in the country and is coming to Kingston through the long friendship existing between Mr. Basile and Major Scott, producer of the circus.

Major Scott in talking to this reporter said, "I have been very fortunate in securing some wonderful acts for my winter season and they will all be here at the opening. There is the Florenz Troupe, a featured attraction all last summer at Atlantic City; the Four Melanios, America's most sensational whirling and wind tumblers; Frank LaFavor and Company, aerial artists. Of course I have the famous Captain William K. Schulz and his unit of trained animals, which is considered the acme of all animal acts. There will be 10 animal acts in all, including the famous trained lions."

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

Today's Hard Luck Story

Baltimore, Md.—Aaron Hoffman's pants were missing today, but that wasn't the cause of his woe: In the pocket was his ticket to the World Series.

Hoffman got out of bed last night to answer the door bell and spied a man with the trousers in his hand. The intruder escaped through a window.

Their World Series

Oklahoma City—Daisy McQuilliams, who runs one of those concessions in which you try to win prizes by knocking over imitation milk bottles with baseballs, took one look at two approaching customers—and almost fainted.

The two, Dizzy Dean and Pepper Martin of the St. Louis Cardinals, won prize after prize at Daisy's head-ache grow. Then they handed them all back.

Eat and Live

Pasadena, Calif.—Levi W. Easton accepted congratulations on his 101st birthday from three sons, 17 grandchildren, 25 great-grandchildren and 11 great-great-grandchildren. Then he sat down to a big dinner of fried chicken and apple pie.

'Phone Calls Awaited

Denver—A month passed without a single bootlegging arrest.

So J. L. White, investigator for the federal alcohol tax unit in Colorado, put an advertisement in a Denver newspaper:

"Moonshine Whiskey—Suitable cash reward for information leading to seizure of illicit whiskey stills or automobiles transporting illicit whiskey."

Mrs. Roosevelt at Albany.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, came to Albany today to participate in the first statewide youth planning conference of the National Youth Administration which opened a two-day session here.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calumet—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Bile is Co.

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel raw, sick and the world looks black.

Calumet is only a makeshift. A true bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up".

Remember, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. So.

tax system.
3. To strive for a balanced budget and for a return at the earliest possible moment to the sound "pay-as-you-go" policy.
4. To establish systematic planning of public construction.
Employment
The New Deal has made the unemployment problem more acute by discouraging expansion of industry and agriculture, thus clogging normal channels of employment.
We pledge:
1. The elimination of unnecessary and harassing regulation of private business.
2. Encouragement of private industry to enter and remain in New York, thus creating permanent employment.

Relief
The mixing of politics with relief is a disgrace.
We shall continue to support a policy of state aid to local communities so that those who need relief will get it. We advocate the local administration of relief, more humane and fairer to persons who hold jobs and who pay the cost of relief, because it is less expensive. We advocate state control of federal relief grants to the state and local county of state and federal grants to the localities under reasonable supervision.
We believe that work relief projects should be useful to the community and should not compete with normal governmental functions or private employment.

We oppose the appointment of relief administrators on the basis of political affiliations. We oppose discrimination in the distribution or use of relief funds on the basis of color, race, creed or party affiliation.

Security
The State of New York is one of the most progressive states of the Union in providing social welfare and security legislation for its citizens. Among the humanitarian measures, either sponsored or adopted by Republican legislators, are the following:
Eight hour law.
Old age pension act, and reduction of eligible age to 65.
Tenement, multiple dwelling and state housing laws.
Pensions for the blind.
Care for crippled children.
Public welfare law.
Public health services.
Unemployment relief law.
Workmen's compensation act.
Reorganization of the Social Welfare Department.

Eight hour day for state institution employees.
It is proposed by the New Deal state administration to place the control of many of these social welfare services under the Federal government. To this proposition we are absolutely opposed.
Industrial development has placed an additional obligation upon the state and nation to promote the security of its people. We favor at all times legislation which will honestly provide genuine social security to all our people.
We believe with Governor Landon that the New Deal Federal social security plan is in many ways unsound financially and unworkable in practice. It discriminates against workmen and against younger people and against the better operated businesses. We favor amendments to existing state and Federal laws which will remove these defects and eliminate these evils.

Labor
We favor the enactment of such legislation as may be necessary to protect women and children in regard to maximum hours, minimum wages and working conditions. In the event that the enactment of such state laws proves to be invalid under the Federal Constitution we favor a constitutional amendment giving to the states the necessary power.
We pledge ourselves to protect the right of employees to organize and to bargain collectively, through representatives of their choice, without interference from any source.

Agriculture
We pledge ourselves to:
1. Provide for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis, Bang's disease, mastitis and other bovine diseases.
2. Cooperate with the federal government in making effective the quarantine against imported livestock, dairy and other farm products from countries that do not impose health and sanitary regulations fully equal to those required of our own producers.
3. Encourage and further develop cooperative marketing.
4. Support state institutions in agricultural research and agricultural education.
5. Permit free use of canal waters by farmers for agricultural purposes when circumstances warrant.
6. Provide for reforestation of marginal farm land and cooperate with the federal government in land programs for proper use of land, soil conservation and flood control.

Education
We favor state aid for education and the strengthening wherever possible of the educational system of the state.
Highways
Within the limits of a sound financial policy we favor:
1. The allocation of gasoline tax revenues to highway purposes.
2. Speed removal and acquisition of rights of way on the state highway system outside of corporate limits at the expense of the state.
3. Construction of arterial highways through cities.
4. Increased highway aid to cities, counties, towns and villages.
5. Development of a long-term program.

Civil Service
We condemn the wrecking of the Federal Civil Service and shall oppose similar trends upon our state system. We shall continue to support and expand the state merit system to the end that citizens may enjoy the public service as a career without regard to political, racial or religious considerations.
We favor co-operation with the authorities of the City of New York on the following measures:

WHAT DYNAMITE DID TO THE ALCAZAR

1. The completion of basic improvements initiated by the state at the Flushing Meadows for the World's Fair, and for a permanent park at the termination of the fair.
2. The extension of main arterial parkways in and through the City of New York with state and federal highway funds on rights-of-way furnished by the city.
3. Home-rule in local rapid transit matters.

Furthermore, we believe that the annual toll in human lives and health from tenement fires, bad ventilation, dampness and vermin makes indefensible any weakening of the provisions of the multiple dwelling law.

General

1. We are opposed to legislation which discriminates against women in state employment. We believe that aptitude, training and efficiency should govern employment and the opportunity for advancement, regardless of sex.
2. We insist on non-political, non-partisan, adequate and vigorous law enforcement.
3. We advocate the adoption of constitutional amendments providing a four-year term for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Comptroller, Attorney General and Senators, and a two-year term for Assemblymen.
4. We recognize the need for slum clearance initiated and executed by state and local authorities. Within the limits of a sound state financial policy, we favor public aid to provide homes for families now living in slum areas and unable otherwise to afford decent, safe, sanitary housing.
5. We favor the humanization of the deportation laws by authorizing executive discretion in deserving cases to prevent the separation of husbands and wives or parents and dependent children. We firmly adhere to the American policy of restricted immigration for the protection of native born and naturalized citizens alike, and we urge the deportation of alien criminals.
6. We recognize the peculiar hardships of our colored citizens and we pledge a study of their problems in cooperation with members of their race to the end that they may enjoy that personal security, economic opportunity and freedom of cultural development to which all people are entitled.
7. We favor the passage by the Legislature of anti-lynching laws.
8. We again declare our insistence on the just and equal protection of all American citizens regardless of religion, race, color or nativity. Freedom of religion, freedom of speech and freedom of press, guaranteed by the American Constitution, should be enjoyed by people everywhere, and we protest against discrimination and persecution on account of race or religion, wherever and however it may be perpetrated.
9. And, finally, we, the Republicans of New York, as free Americans, recognizing the outstanding issue of this campaign, do hereby resolve anew to preserve, protect and defend inviolate the constitution of the state of New York and the Constitution of the United States.

Game Birds' Hatching Time
Under normal conditions the time required for incubating the eggs of various species of well known game birds varies with the species. Ring-necked, golden and silver pheasants take about 23 days. Bob-white quail 24 days. Ruffed grouse 21 to 23 days and Chukar and Hungarian partridges from 22 to 24 days. Various wildfowl require from 25 to 30 days with geese and teal ducks taking 35 and woodducks 30.

able to realize they were free to come above ground once more.

Over the entire area hung a stench of decaying bodies, both from inside and outside. Through basement openings barricaded with furniture and stones we could see the bodies of Socialist attackers who were killed as they hurled hand grenades into the fortress. Fifty corpses had been tossed into a large pit.

Other nauseating smells came from inner rooms where Fascist dead awaited burial.

We went further down and found one room where 75 men, women and children lived for 72 days in a space 50 by 25 feet. As we entered, a gaunt girl offered me a piece of hard, black biscuit. A woman in a dirty gray bathrobe held up a month-old baby which was born during the siege.

"New Heroes of Spain," General Franco gathered a group of the survivors in the fortress' courtyard for military ceremonies in which he paid tribute to their stubborn defense against Socialist troops and guns.

"You are the new heroes of Spain," he declared.
He planned the highest Spanish military decoration—the cross of Ferdinand—on Col. Jose Moscarda, commander of the Alcazar forces, and awarded to all the defenders the same decoration collectively.

With the exception of the buildings of the old military school and the famous Zocodover Plaza the rest of Toledo came through the siege with only slight damage.

The ancient cathedral—its history goes back to 587—was not touched except for broken windows which littered the floor with glass.

New Classes of Conscripts
By RAMON BLARDONY

(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press)
Madrid, Sept. 30 — The Spanish government mobilized two additional classes of conscripts into a powerful army today to counter attack the southern Fascist forces and drive them out of Toledo.
Socialist troops stubbornly halted their slow retreat from Toledo to Madrid and dug in under bursting shells from insurgent six-inch batteries blazing away from the heights of Toledo.

Grimly, throughout the night, the battle raged on the brown Castilian plain from Ollas Del Rey to Cabanas de La Sabra where the government main line of resistance was organized.

Doggedly the opposing militia fought through the olive groves shimmering under a brilliant Spanish moon that gave a ghastly touch to the carnage.

With Madrid only 30 miles farther on, the government defenders held their lines until dawn with its "inevitable" accompaniment of bombardment by the insurgent "black-birds of death."

Actually, few of the front line veterans know that their objective was to drive the Fascists from Toledo. Few of them knew that the Alcazar city had fallen and their comrades driven southward.

Government military circles said, however, that the insurgent tenure of Toledo was threatened.

Four days of fighting, they pointed out, had failed to drive the Socialist army from the highway at Ollas Del Rey, while across the Tago river a "phantom column" from Valencia was laying in wait for insurgent attempts to cut the Ciudad Real railroad at Algodor and the Valencia line at Castillejos.

Papal Official To Visit Country

Vatican City, Sept. 30 (AP)—Officials of the Holy See today confirmed a report that Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Papal secretary of state, will sail tomorrow for New York on the Conte Di Savoia.

One official said the cardinal would be strictly incognito, and that the trip would be his annual personal vacation, not in any sense an official visit.

Prelates said they realized his visit to the United States would give rise to rumors it had something to do with the activities of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, whose attack on President Roosevelt have been criticized sharply by the Vatican newspaper, Osservatore Romano.

Such a premise is not a fact, Vatican sources said. They did, however, say this would not preclude Cardinal Pacelli's talking with Pope Plus about Coughlin on his return to the Vatican.

"Too many college graduates," says a college prexy, "think their education ends when they receive a degree." And too many of 'em are right about it.

Women's Meeting at Yama Farms, Oct. 6, To Back Landon

Ulster county women of the two major parties will be organized into a division of the Independent Coalition of American Women at a large meeting Wednesday, October 6, afternoon, to take place in the home of Mrs. Frank Seaman at Yama Farms, Nanaucho.

Dr. Jeanne O. Arnold of Woodstock, co-chairman for the coalition with Mrs. Seaman for Ulster county, has assisted with arrangements for the meeting which is open to all women, either Democrats, Republicans or Independents.

There will be speakers of nation and state-wide fame. County vice-chairmen will be appointed, and an intensive campaign for the next six weeks will be outlined, with door to door calls by members, meetings of all kinds, and a motor corps will be organized.

Mrs. Willis T. Hanson, New York state chairman for the coalition, in announcing the gathering, said "In the Independent Coalition of American Women, Democrats and Republicans are working together for the election of Alfred M. Landon for President, Frank Knox as vice-president, and for those candidates for Congress who are opposed to the New Deal. Partisan politics are put aside—women of both major parties are united in a common cause for America. There are many thousands of Democrats in this state who cannot vote conscientiously for the candidates on the Democratic ticket."

Joining the coalition movement does not mean that Democrats desert their party. They can work freely for those things for which our government has previously stood without compromising their doctrine of Democracy. Through the coalition they can express their convictions freely with many others who have never voted before, who want to see America restored to Americans."

A joint announcement by Mrs. Seaman and Dr. Arnold states that large delegations of women voters from the five neighboring counties will attend the organization meeting, eager to learn how to throw off the burden of hidden taxes imposed by the New Deal government. Counties to be represented are: Columbia, Sullivan, Dutchess, Putnam and Greene.

Mrs. Lou Wundell, coalition state organizer, who has been assisting Mrs. Seaman and Dr. Arnold, has found a great deal of interest manifested in the aims and objects of the Independent Coalition of American Women throughout Dutchess county and it is expected that the meeting Wednesday will be one of the largest and most important in this section of the state during the campaign.

Ulster county will be the 25th on the list of counties organized officially in New York state, under the direction of Mrs. Hanson. It is composed of non-partisan voters from every race and creed, united to work for the election of the Landon-Knox ticket, regardless of former political affiliations.

POLITICS at Random

PROBABLY nothing in politics is more deceptive than the shouting and tumult which marks the closing days of every national political campaign.

Then, after weeks of intermittent activity, the gyrations of the candidates and their chief spellbinders become constant. Day and night the flood of oratory rolls on, while rallies and torchlight parades whip the faithful into a state of exalted emotionalism.

To the uninitiated, it might appear that everything depended on which side out-shouted the other in these crucial final weeks. Actually, there are many practical politicians who wonder how often this outward noise and excitement really has had much to do with the result.

There are at least two good reasons for doubting the value of the final pre-election crash of drums and brass, in terms of votes.

One is the demonstrated fact that, under present-day conditions, only a small percentage of the voters remain open to conviction in the last weeks of the campaign. The other is the practical truth that in any case election it is not the noise on the surface but the organization work underneath which wins.

Decided Before Campaign

LOOKING back over the past quarter-century, it is quite apparent in retrospect that every Presidential election in that period save possibly one was decided no later than the beginning of the campaign.

The loser in each instance was a defeated man before he began the race, and the best he was able to do was to reduce somewhat the margin of his loss.

Yet not one of these defeated candidates failed to have rousing campaign meetings toward the end. Each stirred his listeners to noisy demonstration, but mostly they turned out to be listeners who were for him before he started to speak.

The unflinching character of the various polls of 1936 would indicate that this year is no exception in almost every case the change in standing from week to week has varied only in such degree as might result from natural accidents.

The polls do not agree one with another, being based on different methods and different principles; but that is beside the point. They do show roughly that those counts taken under a given set of circumstances or in a given locality have turned out about the same whether they were conducted early or late in the campaign. They indicate little shifting around, which in turn indicates that nearly all of the voters made up their minds long ago.

Dr. BYRON PRICE
Chief Of Bureau, The Associated Press,
Washington

Work Important This Year

NOR do the practical men of politics put great faith in the potency of public campaigning among that minor percentage of voters who still remain undecided.

It is the enthusiasts who pack political meetings. The more indifferent stay at home from the parades, and they also stay away from the polls in great numbers on election day. By and large, they can be reached only by private persuasion and individual attention.

To capture that elusive percentage requires close organization down in the precincts, rather than oratory. Rather than frenzied shouting beforehand, it requires a definite assurance that every favorable vote can be brought to the ballot box. The public ballyhoo may be more exciting, but no competent political manager will let it divert his attention from the more serious work down in the underground tunnels.

In 1936, especially, this serious business will be undertaken with increasing intensity as election day nears. For in an unusually large number of states both sides expect privately that the result will be closer than usual; the submerged percentage of indifferent voters might provide just the margin which would tip the scales.

Literacy Test For New Voters

At the general election in 1921 an amendment to article II, section I, of the state constitution was passed which provided:

"After January 1, 1922, no person shall become entitled to vote by attaining majority, by naturalization or otherwise, unless such person is also able, except for physical disability, to read and write English, and suitable laws shall be passed by the legislature to enforce this provision."

The former test of reading an abstract from the constitution of this state given by the election inspectors is abolished.

The general qualifications of voters are as follows:

Voter must have been a citizen for 90 days.

Voter must be 21 years of age or more.

Voter must have lived 5 years in the United States.

Voter must have lived 1 year in the state.

Voter must have lived 30 days in the election district.

Voter must possess evidence of literacy if a new voter.

The qualifications as to time must exist as of the day of election.

Evidence of Literacy

The evidence of literacy which all new voters must present to the election inspectors is one of the following:

A diploma from an eighth grade elementary school in which English has been the language of instruction, or of a higher school.

A certificate of literacy issued by the school authorities under the rules and regulations of the Regents.

Certificates of literacy can be issued without examination under the following conditions, viz: "To new voters who can present evidence of having completed the work prescribed for the sixth grade of the public day schools of the state, or its equivalent in night school."

Such applicant should be particular to secure from the principal of his school a certificate stating the grade completed. Such procedure will save time both for the voter and the examiner. New voters who cannot furnish such certificate must take the New York State Regents Literacy Test.

An amendment voted by the 1936 legislature provides that the certificate of literacy, when issued, shall be in duplicate. One copy may be retained by the person to whom it is issued and the other by the election inspectors to be transmitted to the board of elections for the county.

This amendment will provide a check for election inspectors to see that the same person who took the literacy test signs the regulation book.

Pursuant to the rules of the Board of Regents, the literacy test for the city of Kingston will be given at the high school and at School No. 5 on the following dates by Principal Frank L. Meagher:

CHINA WILL TRY FORCE

IN LINING UP UNIONS

Nanking, (AP)—China is threatening the use of sanctions against all Chinese trading companies and firms which refuse or fail to join officially recognized trade or firm unions.

Some kind of control over all business organizations has become necessary now that an effort is to be made by the government to collect income and corporation taxes, and to require all male civilians to submit to elementary military training.

In return for joining semi-official unions, firms and companies are to be allowed to elect their own representatives to the national assembly which will soon launch China's constitutional regime.

The World of Stamps

By QUINTON JAMES

Distinctive stamps to commemorate a memorial occasion come this week from Hungary. They pay tribute to an event in the history of the city Buda, which since 1872 has been combined with the town of Pest to make the modern Budapest.

The 250th anniversary of the capture of Buda from the Turks is the reason for the issue. It was in 1686 that the enemy were driven out after an occupation which had lasted since 1541. Buda is of ancient origin, dating back before the eleventh century, and is across the river Danube from Pest.

The commemorative issue, both in shading and design, is something to catch an approving eye. The designs are placed against a frameless background made up of coloring which extends into the perforations.

First, the 10-filler deep green pictures the town of Buda on a hill

Issue of the standard catalogue, dated 1937. To show the new stamps, about 57 more pages than last year were required.

At the same time there has been incorporated a section in which "tentative listings" are included. These comprise stamps which the catalogers describe as "those items on which some question has been raised regarding their status which would indicate that the primary purpose of issue was other than of a postal nature."

In the U. S. section, the part devoted to postmaster provisionals of the Confederate states has numerous additional items. These consist of both envelopes and adhesives which recently have been given philatelic recognition as provisional issues.

Also in the U. S. list, some of the illustrations of the frames of the earlier issues have been enhanced to provide a better indication of design differences.

As to the matter of prices, the catalogers say that the increase in the number of collectors has reflected itself through a further upward tendency in listings. This varies according to the demand for particular stamps, but probably is more to be noted among the U. S. issues.

Belgium's King

Another comparatively new king comes into the philatelic news. He is Leopold III of Belgium, whose head and shoulder portrait appears on three different items, each with a somewhat different presentation.

King Edward just recently was the topic of an issue from Great Britain. The new Belgians are of the higher denominations. On the 10-centime sepi the king is looking to the right.

As he is on the 1-franc rose carmine, a stamp somewhat larger in size. The third item, 1.75-fr., is larger still, with the king facing to the left. This stamp is an engraving, while the other two are printed by the photogravure process.

The designs apparently are intended as replacements for the similar values put out in 1934 and 1935.

The year-by-year record of stamps is on the upgrade again. In the last 12-month around 2,000 new ones made their appearance, compared with 1,607 issued in 1934 and 1,651 in 1933. The peak year to date was 1920 when 3,153 were introduced.

She is blowing a trumpet and carrying a palm. The 20-f red brown bears the city's coat of arms. The last value, 22-f deep brown, reproduces a battle scene of the time in the foreground and a belching cannon nearby. The stamps are dated 1936 and 1936.

Comforter Men Set Date for Minstrel

Plans for a season that calls for plenty of activity were made at a meeting of the executive committee of the Church of the Comforter Men's Club Tuesday evening.

The project which the organization has decided to work on this year will be the remodeling of the heating system of the church hall on Wynkoop Place. For some time this system has not afforded the desired results and has finally reached the point where definite action must be taken in order to insure the use of the hall for the winter activities. In order to meet this need, the Men's Club must plan more work than they have set out to accomplish in some years, but enthusiasm seems to be particularly fine and points toward gaining the goal that has been set.

The annual minstrel show will again be the highlight of the program and the tentative dates are November 24 and 25. Bookings for outside engagements are also being made so that the work that is essential in the production of the minstrel will be realized to the utmost. Frank Elmendorf, the director of the achievements of past years, will again be in the "driver's seat" and already has assembled some fine ideas to incorporate in this year's show.

The Comforter Club are also making arrangements for a large meeting to be held on October 20, when the Rev. Harold Hoffman, of the Stone Ridge Church, will be the guest speaker. This meeting will inaugurate the season's activities and the officers are using every effort to make it one of the finest meetings that the club has yet entered.

Eight persons come under the suspicion of the police. Warren Williams plays the part of the cool analytical Perry Mason. Claire Dodd is the sophisticated secretary who marries her boss. State "Scotland Yard" Announces Solution to Fire

New Crime Bureau With Aid of Local Troops Makes Arrest in New Palitz Fire Case.

Investigators from the newly organized State Trooper "Scotland Yard" working in conjunction with Corporal Norman Baker and Trooper Andrew Klein, say they have solved the mystery of the fire which damaged the LaBarbera home in New Palitz early Sunday morning. Joseph LaBarbera, 29, a son of the owner of the premises was arrested in New York city Tuesday and brought to this city after being questioned about the fire. It is alleged he made a statement to the Troopers in which he told how the fire started.

As a result of the statement which he made LaBarbera who lives at 1452 Gayley street, Bronx, was arrested late Tuesday afternoon before Justice J. C. Farnes at New Palitz and after a hearing was held to await the action of the grand jury to answer to a charge of arson second degree.

When the New Palitz fire department was called to the LaBarbera house in the village shortly after midnight on Sunday they found things which were suspicious. Kerosene and papers were found in the place and after the fire had been extinguished a lighted candle surrounded by papers was found in another section of the building. Corporal Baker and Trooper Klein were notified and took up the investigation.

When it was discovered that copies of the Sunday News were strewn about the place shortly after midnight when the fire occurred and it was known that this issue of the paper did not arrive by postal means of transportation until 5 o'clock Sunday morning the Troopers detected that the papers had been brought by someone from New York city directly to the house. This indicated New York people were involved. An investigation was commenced from that end and the result was that young LaBarbera was questioned and later arrested and brought back to the court house where the Troopers secured a statement.

It is said that there was about $4,000 insurance on the premises. The damage however from fire was slight although smoke and water did some damage.

Woodstock Liquor Question Before Justice Schirick

Woodstock, Sept. 30.—In opposition to the plan to place local option on the November ballot, opponents of the issue have secured Attorney Caslin and Ewig to represent them in a special session of Supreme Court on Friday.

When a petition, signed by 382 voters, was presented last week to Town Clerk Leslie A. Elwyn, asking that the matter be brought up on November 3 for a town vote, opponents of the plan proceeded to secure affidavits from petitioners saying that the meaning of the measure had been misinterpreted to them when they signed. Some said they were told that the petition was to ask for a public discussion of local option; others that it was to check option; still others that it was to close certain places. None of these signs understood that it meant a legal vote on liquor licenses or that it was practically a question of whether the town of Woodstock is to be "dry" or "wet" in the future.

Opponents of the local option hope, by proving the invalidity of enough signatures and proving that nearly 40 were ineligible to sign, to have the court enjoin the Ulster County Board of Elections against placing the local option issue on the ballot.

Yanks Take Lead In Series Opener

broke through for their first marker. Ruffing was tossed out on a close play, Hubbell to Terry, after dribbling the ball toward the box. Crossett lifted a high one that Whitehead batted on the grass behind second base. Rolfe, two strikes and a ball, then bounced a single past Whitehead.

DiMaggio singled on the first pitch to right. Rolfe slipped rounding second and scrambled back to that base. With two called strikes and one ball Gehrig grounded weakly to the box and was tossed out, Hubbell to Terry.

One run, three hits, no errors, two left. Hubbell took a strike one swinging, then Hubbell singled sharply to center. It was beginning to rain harder and play was stopped while Hubbell donned a leather jacket.

Moore fanned swinging. Bartlett popped a single over Gehrig's head on the first pitch, sending Hubbell to third. It looked as though Bartlett was trying to duck when his bat connected.

Terry worked the count to three and two, then fouled to Dikey who made the catch in front of the Yankee dugout.

Ott walked, the fourth straight ball being low and inside. The bases were filled.

Ripple swung and missed the first pitch. Strike two was called. Ripple kicked at the decision and the crowd yelled. A ball was next. It was raining hard. Two other balls then were called but Umpire Parnman announced the count was two balls instead of three. A previous pitch had been ruled out. Ripple then fanned swinging.

The mix-up on balls called against Ripple was due to a pitch made when Ripple was out of the batter's box. No runs, two hits, no errors, three left.

Labor representatives and industrial leaders should have intelligence enough to understand that calm arbitration is better than conflict. Neither side is justified in taking a stubborn stand. The cause of the working man will not be served by long strikes that destroy the sources from which employment and purchasing power flow.

Clinton Avenue M. E. Church hall. Toastmaster, Miss Helen Bates (Ulster County Youth Council). Speakers, Douglas Wheeler, Dr. Harry T. Stock, the Rev. Laurence T. Noke.

6:00—Cafeteria supper for all those not attending the above banquets. Served in the dining room St. James Church.

Orr pleaded not guilty and informed Judge Traver that "Chris J. Flanagan was his attorney."

The first indictment contained two counts: One for rape in the first degree and the second for assault in the second degree; the second indictment was for burglary in the second degree; and the third indictment, which contained two counts, was first for intent to commit murder and the other for assault in the first degree.

Attorney Flanagan was not in court when Orr was arraigned and the date of the trial will be fixed later.

Giant Honey Cache Found in Australia

Sydney, N. S. W.—The world's biggest natural beehive weighing nearly a ton and yielding more than three tons of special medicinal honey, has been found in an inland Australian forest.

Situated in the top of a giant eucalyptus tree, the hive was the home of myriads of Tasmanian black bees. Shaped like the usual hive, it is 21 feet across and is more than 36 feet high. The honey, if sold, would be valued at nearly $2,500.

The only hive believed to be larger is the artificial bee palace built by Dr. Jaromir Rasin in a Czechoslovakian valley. In his enormous hive are 7,000,000 bees, kept only for experimental purposes. Dr. Rasin is a distinguished biologist who has written many books on bees, their behavior and their work.

Poultry Committee Planned Program

The Ulster County Farm Bureau poultry committee planned a very extensive program of work for the coming year at a meeting Tuesday evening. John Miller of Capstone Farm, Kingston, chairman of the committee, presided. Those present were Mr. Miller, A. P. Kaplan, Fred DuBois, Jr., Solomon LeFevre, Franklin Kelder, Frank Black, A. E. Zimmer and Harry Kaplowitz.

Before the committee discussed the major problems, which the program would aim to solve, Mr. Miller gave a complete report of a recent meeting of the state poultry committee and Albert Kurdt, manager of the Farm Bureau, reported on the results of activities during the past year.

Several new projects were planned including a meeting of all breeders-hatcherymen in the county to discuss a cooperative program of improving and advertising local chicks. A special program for those selling baby chicks was planned.

The committee decided that the rearing of strong healthy pullets is the foundation of a successful poultry business. During the coming winter and spring a special program on rearing chicks properly will be carried out. The next important feature of the general program will be emphasized on the numerous details of feeding and care to help poultrymen meet the present situation of high feed costs and low egg prices. The third important problem to be attacked will be the control of diseases.

During October the various community committees will meet and arrange for local programs. These events and activities will be added to the programs arranged by the three major county committees and will constitute the Farm Bureau program for 1937. Many activities are being planned of direct benefit to all farmers in Ulster county.

As the morning session of the Regional Conference of the Red Cross Chapters of Southeastern New York was being held in the Governor Clinton Hotel, on Tuesday morning, the last speaker and one of the most important was Walter Davidson, assistant manager of the eastern area.

Among other things which Mr. Davidson considered was the fact that where other organizations have been first in the field of relief, helplessness and protection, the Red Cross does not ignore their good work but puts forth every possible effort to coordinate efforts and to cooperate. As an illustration Mr. Davidson mentioned the National Safety Council, especially in its work of accident prevention in the home. The combined efforts of both organizations made the entire effort much more effective.

Mr. Davidson particularly stressed the necessity for organizing the full manpower of the country in the American Red Cross for it is needed as never before. He hoped there might be some mystic, some supremely appealing voice that would persuade every man, woman and child to give of themselves to the personal, financial, helpful effectiveness of the American Red Cross, with its great contribution to the safety of all through the efforts of those who are willing to take the time to receive the necessary training for the work under the Red Cross.

One thing was shown to be of vital necessity in the carrying on of this great work and that was membership in the Red Cross, which will make possible trained service, necessary supplies, etc. This coming roll call will be the 20th in the history of the American Red Cross.

Great Service.

Mr. Davidson noted particularly the significant fact of the great service proffered by the Red Cross with its superlative equipment of experts and its amplified resources of every sort and description. If emergencies arise physicians and surgeons are ready on call to give the best of first aid; if it is a matter of public health, the most expert of public health nurses are available; if the need is for forward-looking service, there is the Junior Red Cross and always there are unnumbered mediums of communication at its command where expert aid is called for.

The entire Red Cross staff of the United States numbers some 750 trained workers of every sort and in spite of mass disaster, the effort of the Red Cross is always directed toward the relief and rehabilitation of the individual and his family.

5 Million Members Needed.

If there is to be the important increasing development of this service and new needs arise, there must be secured, said Mr. Davidson, 5,000,000 members of the American Red Cross. Though there was an increase of 150,000 members last year that is not enough for the great disasters of the past year have made it necessary to draw on reserve funds, and it is plain that in the future the Red Cross must be able to be on a membership basis that will enable it to go on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

Because of his own ardor and enthusiasm for the progress of the Red Cross, Mr. Davidson's address was particularly inspiring.

At the close of Mr. Davidson's address the gathering adjourned to the large dining room, where covers were laid for one-hundred and 33 Red Cross minded persons. Judge Hasbrouck called on the Rev. Dr. Seelye to ask a blessing.

The dining room presented a most attractive picture with the attractive floral decorations, the result of the labor of love of the flower committee, composed of Mrs. Hermon Kelly, Mrs. R. R. Gross and David Burgevin.

Officers Present.

The officers of the entertaining chapter who were present were, president, Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck; first vice president, John H. Saxe; second vice president, Mrs. Downer of Woodstock; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Charles Tappen, to whose untiring and efficient efforts much of the success of the conference meeting in Kingston was due. Red Cross Roll Call chairman, Mrs. Frederic Holcomb; publicity chairman, Miss Helgard; Miss Katherine Millard was one of the registrars for the luncheon, and the others, all in Red Cross uniforms were Mrs. H. L. Bibby, Miss McClary, Miss Ruth Smith, Mrs. Mortimer Downer, Mrs. Leon Chambers and Mrs. H. L. Rakov. The hostesses were Mrs. John Snyder of Saugerties, Mrs. Cornelia Hasbrouck, Mrs. Fred Warren, Mrs. Frederic Holcomb.

Among the honored guests was Miss Jessie Logie, Field Secretary of southern New York.

Visiting Chapters.

The various visiting chapters of the Red Cross were Columbia County Chapter, Newburgh Chapter, Nyack Chapter, Liberty Chapter, Port Jervis Chapter, Tuxedo Chapter, Nassau County Chapter, Ontario Chapter.

Following the excellent luncheon, well-served and seasoned with the pleasantly social atmosphere of the gathering, the speaking was resumed, the first speaker of the afternoon being Lawrence Leary, president of the Westchester County Junior Red Cross Council, who spoke on "Conscious Junior Membership." The young man spoke well, and with conviction, telling of the creation of the Junior Red Cross during the last year of the World War, when it was so created to permit the children of America to help other children of the war stricken areas. It had not only remained because of its efficiency, but because it was found to help others like the members themselves. In school work, especially in the practical arts departments, children were made to make other children happier. The Junior Red Cross had become conscious of the community life through its home safety campaign, and by means of the little blue slips had been a go-between from the family to the Red Cross. Young Red Cross members found that they could help the Senior Red Cross in many ways by helping in drives, and by their assistance making the senior Red Cross members more efficient. They even found ways to help in the National Red Cross through drives, etc., and were taking up training in First Aid, Life Saving, Home Safety, Home Hygiene, etc.

Mental Attitude Grows.

Finally they were becoming internationally Red Cross minded through the correspondence groups who were writing letters to children in other countries, thus developing friendships and understanding that would become increasingly valuable as war preventive work. It was the ambition of the Junior Red Cross to do its part to help the Senior Red Cross until in time they would themselves become Senior Red Cross members.

The two other addresses of the afternoon, one by Mr. Reddy and the other by Mr. Davidson were on "Interpretations of the People's Red Cross."

Mr. Reddy explained that each activity of the Red Cross, that is each special service, was important enough in its set-up to stand as a national organization alone. It is really a federation of societies, with all having a feeling for people and their needs. Whether it was war time helplessness, or the even bigger work of caring for children and the creation of the Junior Red Cross, health in the home, nursing, emergencies or rehabilitation they all prevent charity which is of itself an inestimable blessing to the people of this and any other country.

Method of Procedure.

It was very interesting indeed to hear Mr. Reddy describe the mode of procedure of the Red Cross in preparation of on-coming hurricanes, whose possible destructiveness could only be surmised and he graphically described how they went about to learn, in advance, (for the centers of hurricanes move slowly) just where the most danger would come and to be ready to meet it. Though often disappointed because of the eccentricities of cross currents, etc., in their planning, today the Red Cross is in a position to save lives where it has not been possible before, even if it is not always possible to save property, only to restore it.

Because of all of these helpful agencies all over our land and our readiness and ability to serve other peoples in dire distress, the Red Cross has a greater appeal than any other organization. "What is the secret?" asked Mr. Reddy. The answer was, "Memberships." Forcefully the speaker made it plain that it is the memberships which will soon be asked for all over our land that will make it possible to keep this vast and most beneficent organization living and urged a marked increase of memberships in the coming Roll Call. It is most true according to the speaker that we gain by our efforts as opportunity is afforded us, and he told the story of the man in India, who had three sons. After his death his will was found to provide for one-half of his possessions going to the oldest son; one third to the second, and one-ninth to the third, and the entire possessions consisted of 17 elephants. The sons were sadly puzzled as to what to do, but hoped to find some solution as it was their desire to do as their father wished. The next day a neighbor who knew of their predicament came to see them, bringing his elephant with him and turning him loose with them, making the 18 necessary for the right division. The oldest son took his nine elephants and put them by themselves; the second son did likewise with his six elephants, the neighbor took his elephant and went home, having been of service to his neighbors and finding that he had lost nothing himself.

Mr. Reddy closed by giving the following lines written by a chaplain in the late war:

"A little boy of heavenly birth
But far from home today,
Came down to find his ball—The Earth—
That sin had cast away.
Of comrades, let us one and all
Join in to get him back his ball."
—Fr. Tabb

Final Speaker.

Mr. Davidson was the last speaker of the afternoon and of the conference and made "Unity" the main thought of his talk, after suggesting that he would like to see the memberships to the Red Cross roll call this fall come in in the same fashion as the hurricane that Mr. Reddy had described. Mr. Davidson reminded his hearers that the sun never sets on the work done under the simple, understandable emblem of the Red Cross, which surpasses language in its appeal. It is known and understood by the people—again "the people's Red Cross"—of all nations and besides it is ubiquitous, for it is always to be found in all places when needed. It offers a vast and beautiful mosaic of service, and service is its one language understood by all; prevention, relief from suffering, and procedure on the basis of experience. The Red Cross should be therefore a unanimous group of people the world over, who serve for the sake of those who suffer.

Mr. Davidson told of a visit of the Hindu sage, Mr. Tagore, to the Henry street settlement in New York city, and of one of girls asking Miss Lillian Ward "Is that God?" Miss Ward's quick answer was, "No, but it is one of God's friends," and that was what the speaker thought the people of our land, by joining the Red Cross could become. "God's friends."

In closing, Mr. Davidson thanked all who had come from any distance, for their appreciation of the work before them, and that for others, and he very cordially thanked the Ulster County Chapter for the invitation to meet in Kingston and for their most gracious hospitality.

The showing of the thrilling film, "The Red Cross to the Rescue," brought the meeting to a close.

CHARLES S. HENTON
EXTENDED ON TUESDAY.

Sergeant Joseph F. Dolan, who has been in charge of recruiting for U. S. Army at Kingston for some months past and who has been transferred to Poughkeepsie, the change being effective today, marked his last day of service here by adding still another recruit to the list of those he has inducted into Uncle Sam's service since coming here.

The latest recruit is Charles E. Henton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Henton of 422 Hudson street, Kingston, who enlisted Tuesday and left for West Point, where he is connected with the Detached Battalion New's Lia. Service Detachment.

Winter Sports Clan Busy at Woodstock

Woodstock, Sept. 30.—At a special meeting of the Woodstock Winter Sports Association held in the American Legion rooms on Monday evening, Pen Franklin and William Pierpont were nominated for the office of president. The meeting followed a letter received by the organization, presenting the withdrawal of Samuel Gregg from the position as nominee for the office.

At the next regular meeting the officers will be elected from the list of nominations. Besides the nominations for president there are Arnold Wiltz for vice president, Jane Germann for secretary and George Neher for treasurer. As the nomination of a president was the only business of the evening the meeting was adjourned, to be followed by informal discussion and suggestions from members.

Arnold Wiltz reported that work had been underway for several weeks on the Bearville ski hill and the Woodstock skating pond. A discussion of work and material needed brought forth offers of lumber and timber for the building of shelters, and even a 10-foot steel edged scraper for clearing ground and snow. The possibility of constructing ski jumps was considered, as was a plan for a meet of one-man toboggan teams on the Woodstock slide.

Ft. Ticonderoga Figured in Indian, French Wars

Ft. Ticonderoga stands on a point of land at the lower end of Lake Champlain about 100 miles from Albany and seventy miles below Plattsburg. Long before the coming of the white man it was a common battleground for the Indian tribes of the region. It was there, notes a writer in Pathfinder Magazine, that Champlain fought the Iroquois and instilled in them hatred for the French. Thereafter they always fought on the side of the English.

The French built a fortification there to command the passage of the lake and called it Carillon, meaning "chime of bells," in allusion to the sound of the nearby waterfall which the Indians called Ticonderoga (sounding water). Later it was called Ft. Ticonderoga. It was greatly enlarged and strengthened by the British who took possession of it in 1759.

When the town of Ticonderoga in 1875 celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the American capture of the Fort, Ft. Ticonderoga bid fair to become little more than a memory. Mouldering walls were slowly crumbling away from the effects of the elements and the hands of man who found the old fort a convenient stone quarry. Many a doorstep and grave marker of the region were stones which had been carted away from the fort.

Tasmanian Devil Always Ill-Natured, Disagreeable

The Tasmanian devil is a pouched mammal peculiar to Tasmania, so called from its ugly and untamable disposition. Whether in a wild state or in captivity it always is the same ill-natured, disagreeable beast, whose blood is aroused at the slightest provocation, asserts a writer in the Indianapolis News. It never learns to know or to like the person who cares for it and gives it food, attacking him with the same blind ferocity as it does a stranger. It is about as large as a badger or small bear. It is powerfully built, with a very large head and a bushy, thick-haired tail, about twelve inches long. The fur, which is thick and close, is mainly black or blackish brown, with a white collar or patch on the throat and white spots on the neck, shoulders and rump. In its gait and movements it very much resembles a badger or small bear. It is nocturnal in habit, being nearly blinded by the sun's rays, and passes the day usually coiled up in a cleft in the rocks or in a hole excavated by its powerful claws under the roots of some tree. Its prey consists of living creatures which it is able to destroy. In the early days of European settlement it was the pest of sheep-breeders and poultry-raisers, and is nearly exterminated and is seen rarely even in the wildest regions.

The Little Brown Bear

The little brown bear is the descendant of a long line of European brown bears. Perhaps his ancestors did not come over on the Mayflower, but they once entertained Queen Elizabeth at a command performance. That was in 1575, says a writer in the Washington Star. Thirteen brown bears consented to be baited with bulldogs for the edification of her royal highness, and they made such a hit that the sport was continued for centuries, despite the Puritans and various uplift organizations. The hybrids obviously are of pioneer stock and have no aristocratic traditions. The little brown aristocrat's forbears were trained artists, dancing for the crowned heads of Europe, while the hybrids' forbears were mauling folk from the Redskins.

Survivors of Revolution

Leaders of the French revolution of 1793 all met their death by the guillotine within a few years by new leaders of revolution; those who survived until the end of the century and Napoleon's time were, for the most part, men of the second and third rank, who turned with every change of political phase, champions who had escaped the guillotine of politics, and the contempt, the unprincipled, the quick-witted, men like Talleyrand and Fouché, always careful to be on the winning side.

Two Women to Battle Again

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Two women who were political foes at the polls two years ago, made plans today to renew their battle for the right to represent New York in Congress as representative at large.

Miss Natalie Couch, of Nyack was nominated to make the race at the Republican state convention which closed here last night. At Syracuse, the Democrats renominated Mrs. Caroline O'Day, of Rye. Mrs. O'Day polled approximately 500,000 more votes than Miss Couch when they ran for the same office in 1934.

Miss Couch said today, however, that she was confident she would win this time.

"Women are backing me up," she declared. "I was drafted but I will work for my party."

Women played a major role at both conventions. There were 212 women delegates and 311 alternates at the Democratic meeting and 251 women delegates and 345 alternates at the Republican convention in Albany.

"We are very proud of the work which women are doing this year," declared Republican Mrs. Robert Low Bacon, of Westbury. "It is an indication of the women's vote."

Patty Berg Wins But Was Worried

Summit, N. J., Sept. 30 (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Eva Shorb of Canton, Ohio, is out of the fortieth women's golf championship, but mark her down as one young lady to watch in the future.

Comparatively inexperienced now and more self-taught than otherwise, she gave freckle-faced Patty Berg of Minneapolis worries galore in the first round of the national tournament at the Canoe Brook Country Club.

Miss Berg won, 1 up, by holing a putt after Miss Shorb had missed hers on the eighteenth green.

Miss Shorb has been playing golf about four years.

Browning Cocker Looks Like Champ

Mrs. Robert F. Browning, owner of the Tokalon Kennels at West Hurley, will be represented at the Spaniel Field Trials to be run by the Albany Cocker Club on Saturday and Sunday, October 10 and 11, at Four Bush.

The three-year-old Tokalon Pioneer, bred by her, has been entered in the open non-winners stake. Last fall this dog placed second to H. E. Mellenthin's My Own on time, and this year his handler, Edward W. Gallinat, of Albany, expects to win the blue ribbon with Pioneer in this event.

10 Selections in Annual Ball Draft

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—One of the largest gatherings of major league baseball officials for this purpose in recent years made one of the smallest selections of players from the minors in the annual "draft."

Fifty baseball men attended the annual draft meeting last night, with only the Chicago White Sox unrepresented. Altogether they selected only ten players. Seven of them have had previous major league experience and seven were chosen from class "AA" baseball.

The Athletics, who had first choice, were the only club to draft two players. Connie Mack picked Chalmers "Bub" Claxton, veteran infielder for whom the White Sox once gave $75,000, from the Baltimore Orioles of the International League, and Catcher Earl Brucker from Portland in the Pacific Coast League. Claxton had a fine season, hitting .344. Brucker batted .338.

The other last place club, the Phillies, took Wayne Lamaster, southpaw pitcher who won 12 games and lost ten for Louisville in the American Association this year. Chicago's Cubs picked Dick Siebert, Indianapolis first sacker who hit .331 in the American Association. Siebert once had a trial with the Dodgers.

Other selections: By Brooklyn—Luke Hamlin, right-hand pitcher formerly with Detroit, from Milwaukee. He won 19 and lost 14 in the American Association. By St. Louis Browns—Gerald Lipcomb, second baseman and 293 hitter, from Atlanta.

By Cincinnati—Dick Barrett, who played as Dick "Oliver" when he first appeared in the Athletics lineup a few years ago. He won 22 and lost 13 with Seattle in the Coast League in 1936.

By Boston Bees—Debs Garms, former Browns' outfielder, from San Antonio of the Texas League, where he hit .318.

By Cleveland—Whitlow Wyatt, former Detroit pitcher, from Kansas City; won 12, lost 7.

By Washington—Beverly Ferrell, outfielder and .327 hitter, from Thomasville of Georgia-Florida League; stole 31 bases.

Van's Store Team At Ashokan Again

Sunday afternoon, the baseball team representing Van's Sporting Goods Store will travel to Ashokan to give the tokens of that community, the All Stars, a chance to even things up after last Sunday when the Kingstonians edged out the rural boys, 5-4, in a 15 inning battle.

Last Sunday Sleik was on the pitching mound for Van's and after a shaky start settled down to hurl good ball. Robert DuBois was his opponent and allowed only six hits but the poor support he received shored him into the loser's column.

Next Sunday's game will start at 2:30, and a large gathering of fans is expected to witness it.

Jack Johnson to Be in Opera Cast

Jack Johnson, one-time world heavyweight champion, says the Associated Press is going to appear in grand opera. The husky negro recently employed as a whiskey salesman, will appear Friday night at New York's Hippodrome in the opera "Aida," as the leading Ethiopian general brought as a captive in chains to Memphis by the conquering Rhadamenes.

Johnson won't sing. He confessed a fondness for opera. "I'll go without my dinner and day to hear one," he said.

Earl Browder Runs Into Arms of Law

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 30 (AP)—

Earl Browder, Communist candidate for president, and two of his friends were arrested here this morning as they stepped off a train from Chicago. James C. Yates, police chief, said Browder was held to prevent him from making a speech here tonight.

Arrested with Browder were Waldo Frank of New York, a novelist, and Seymour Waldman of New York, who is a representative of the national election committee of the Communist party. All three were held on charges of vagrancy pending investigation.

Yates, who in three years rose from patrolman to head of his department, said yesterday that "I won't let Browder speak here."

Lutheran Boys To Form New Club

The boys of Trinity Lutheran Sunday School were the guests of Trinity Lutheran Men's Club at their meeting held on Tuesday evening, September 29. At this meeting the Sunday School boys expressed their desire to organize a Junior Boys' Club to be composed of boys of the church and Sunday School from the age of 10 to 18 years, and decided to meet for organization on Friday evening, October 15, at 7 o'clock. Trinity Lutheran Men's Club will sponsor the formation of the Boys' Club and will have representatives at the meetings to supervise the same and will furnish the boys with various means of recreation. Trinity Lutheran Men's Club is a fast growing, progressive organization and one of the first members of the Federation of Men's Clubs of Kingston and vicinity to undertake a movement of this kind. At the conclusion of the business meeting on Tuesday night refreshments were served which were greatly enjoyed by all present after which dart baseball games were played by teams composed of boys and members of the Men's Club. This was the second meeting at which the Sunday School boys were guests of the Men's Club and all present are looking forward to a similar meeting to be held sometime in the near future.

Roosevelt Given Warm Reception At Syracuse Parley

Aboard Roosevelt train enroute to Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt sped southward for a round of conferences at the White House today after launching his personal campaign for re-election by repudiating any communist support and scoring the Republican leadership for what he called "smooth evasion" on social security and taxation.

Addressing an uproarious Democratic state convention last night at Syracuse, the President drew repeated applause as, speaking of Communism, he urged a prompt burial of that "false issue" and assailed past and present Republican commands for "lack of purpose" in striving to meet social problems. He arranged a series of Washington conferences that were to take up his first full day in the national capital in 10 days.

As chairman of the Peru-Ecuador boundary commission, he called an early initial meeting of that group at the White House. He planned to meet for the first time his new maritime commission and later in the day to confer with public and private power interests in an effort to form a southeastern "power pool" for mutual utilizing of power and transmission lines in TVA territory looking to low cost electricity.

Given Warm Reception Mr. Roosevelt's speech in the packed Syracuse Armory last night, was given a warm reception from the very start when he declared his entrance into the campaign with "confidence," on through to the end when he asserted the "true conservative seeks to protect the system of private property and free enterprise by correcting such injustices and inequalities as arise from it."

Comparing Republican promises of the past with those of the present, he asserted:

"The same lack of purpose of fulfillment lies behind the promises of today. You cannot be an Old Guard Republican in the East, and a New Deal Republican in the West."

"You cannot promise to repeal taxes before one audience and promise to spend more of the taxpayers' money before another audience. You simply cannot make good on both promises at the same time."

Mocks "Smooth Evaders" In mocking tones, the President warned against "smooth evaders" who he said promise to do all the things the New Deal has done without cost to anybody.

He said the opposition was "banking too heavily on the shortness of our memories."

"No one will forget that they had their golden opportunity—12 long years of it," he added amid laughter and applause.

"Remember," he continued, "that the first essential of doing a job well is to want to see the job done. But make no mistake about this—the Republican leadership today is not against the way we have done the job. The Republican leadership is against the job being done."

Recalls Famous Ones Calling attention to "malicious opposition" that hurled charges against Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt and Wilson, he brought laughter and cheers when he said:

"In this campaign another herring turns up."

He referred to communism.

"Here and now, once and for all, let us bury that red herring and destroy that false issue," he asserted.

"I have not sought, I do not seek, I repudiate the support of any advocate of communism or of any other alien 'ism' which would by fair means or foul change our American democracy."

Two Americans

A "Non-Political" Comparison

"MY FRIENDS . . ."

... Authority on public speaking have called President Roosevelt's radio delivery the most polished employed by any man in public life today.

Devoid of old-style oratorical bombast and, for the unseeing audience, not dependent on gestures, his talks carry an impression of informality even when he reads from text. Though researchers may aid in their drafting, his crisp sentences bear an unmistakable Roosevelt mark.

"IN KANSAS . . ."

No "radio crooner," his friends proclaim, is Challenger Landon. Less experienced before the microphone than Mr. Roosevelt, the Republican candidate nevertheless has developed a speaking technique tailored to the conservative tone of his campaign—folksy in discussion, biting in attack. He is considered at his best when addressing small groups such as he meets in innumerable rear platform appearances.

To morrow: Fair Companions

Knox, Roosevelt Then Al Smith Are on Air Schedule

Pittsburgh, Sept. 30 (AP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Col. Frank Knox will be rival speakers in Pittsburgh tomorrow night.

They will appear on platforms only a few blocks apart.

The President, coming here from Elkins, W. Va., where he will attend the Mountain State Forest Festival, is scheduled to begin his address at 9 p. m. at Forbes Field.

Col. Knox, the Republican candidate for vice-president, is to give his address at 8:15 p. m. in Duquesne Garden.

At 9:30 p. m. former Governor Al Smith will speak over a radio network from New York.

Noise Ordinance Is To Be Enforced Here

Several months ago an anti-noise ordinance was adopted in the city, and this week the police department is making a special effort to see that its provisions are enforced. As there are approximately 200 or more ordinances on the city books it is manifestly impossible for the police department to enforce all of them as there are not enough men to assign to the job. Efforts are being made to enforce the ordinances on which the most complaints are filed with the department.

Other ordinances that are to be enforced are the stop sign ordinance, and auto drivers who fail to bring their cars to a complete stop where stop signs are erected will be arrested. The police also plan the first of the month to enforce the new reflector law, which goes into effect on October 1 in the state, and which requires the placing of cat's eyes reflectors on the rear of all automobiles. The police will also enforce the ordinance that covers headlights and tail lights on cars. Auto drivers who are driving cars with only one headlight and no tail light lit, should see to it that the lights on their cars are repaired at once.

"We'll Carry Ohio," Knox Tells Press, By Heavy Campaign

Detroit, Sept. 30 (AP)—Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential nominee, aimed his party's campaign today into Ohio, a state he said he regarded as part of the "real fighting ground" of the national election. "We will carry Ohio," Knox told reporters in a press conference last night aboard his special train, "but only after the most energetic campaign."

The Knox train was scheduled for its first stop in Toledo.

After passing through several other Ohio cities it was due at Cincinnati at 4 p. m., where Col. Knox will deliver a night address.

It was to be the Chicago publisher's first visit to Ohio since receiving the nomination. The Ohio trip also will represent a homecoming for the manager of the Knox campaign travel, former Lieutenant Governor Clarence J. Brown, now political contact man for the vice presidential nominee.

Before leaving Michigan, where he addressed the state Republican convention Tuesday at Grand Rapids, Knox said he was confident that state would go Republican in November.

"I can't speak with any authority about Wayne county," said Knox, referring to Detroit and environs, "but outside of Wayne county, the state is in the same political state of mind as when it used to cast a Republican majority of 200,000 or more."

Knox was chairman of the Michigan state central committee from 1910 to 1912, when he was a young newspaper publisher at Sault Ste. Marie. He left the party to head the Bull Moose campaign for "T. R." Roosevelt, in the election which marked Michigan's first departure from the regular Republican column.
